

EXPANDED COVERAGE! BOOK REVIEW

As is mentioned in the review as printed in the March/April 2018 issue of Beer Cans & Brewery Collectibles, Jim Wolf grew up in Cumberland and understands its beer culture very well. Even though he lives in the Eastern Shores of Maryland today, he still maintains an extensive collection of Cumberland brewing artifacts and knowledge. He is also well known to many collectors through his tireless work with the BCCA in helping to catalog all known beer can variations.

Although Rob Musson lives in Northeastern Ohio, he has a strong interest in the brewing history of Maryland, as well as Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and his home state. He has written 35 books covering the breweries in the region, with more to follow. Two of three volumes covering West Virginia have also been released under his Zepp Publications name in 2017, and a book on Akron's brewing industry will be released by Arcadia Publishing in early 2018.

Shown here are some of the photos that appeared in the magazine review along with several others that we did not have room for. Enjoy!
